A ROY'L WEDDING.

MARRIAGE OF ALFONSO AND MARIE CHRISTINE,

The Streets of Madrid Thronged with People-- Houses Decorated -- The Wedding Ceremonies.

MADRID, Nov. 29.—The marriage of King Alfonso to the Austrian Archd ichess Marie Christine, will be solemnized this forenoon. This morning the band of the regiments quartered in in this place played Reveille before the Royal Palace and afterward they marched through the principal streets. Much animation prevails. The streets are thronged with people. Many houses have been decorated and triumphal arches erected at various points. The weather has improved. 12:45 P. M.-The royal wedding was solemnized this morning according to the programme, in Atocha church. The King was accompanied by Archduke Brenier to the church, and was preceded by eleven carriages containing various members of the Spanish royal family, grandees of Spain and the court dignitaries. The bride was preceded by four carriages containing the court dignitaries and ladies of honor. The bride was richly dressed in white, and wore a diadem of brilliants and insigna of the Marie Louise order. The Atoche church was splendidly illuminated, and decorated with rich silken draperies. A diplomatic body of the Spanish grandees and deputations from the Senate and Chamber of Deputies occupied the nave of the church. The bride appeared much moved during the ceremony. The nuptial benediction was given on behalf of the Pope by the Cardinal Patriarch of the Indies, who officiated at mass, which was celebrated after the marriage cere-

Nothing so far has been heard of the Wrights, and it is supposed that they have been burned to death. COTTON GIN BURNED.

William A. Marcom's Loss-Origin of the Fire--- No Insurance.

Special correspondence of the News CHATHAM, Nov. 26.—To-day the cotton gin of William A. Marcom, just over the Chatham line and distant eighteen miles from Raleigh, was burned, with a total loss to all of a pout $5,000, with no insurance. Mr. Marcom's loss amounts to about $3,000. The steam engine was placed some distance from the gin-house, the machinery being run by a wire belt, and was unhurt.

There were about thirty bales of seed cotton in the houses. There were two buildings adjoining each other—one 30x 20 feet and two stories high; on one side was a packing room 30x10 feet and two stories high, and on another side a packing room 20x10 feet and one story The other building was two stories high and 24x20 feet, with sheds on three sides, all full; 160 saw and 140 saw gins and two presses of seed cotton. In the press room is a large press costing $200. Joe Rogers was engaged in packing a large bale. Among the ma-chinery of the press is an iron collar and rings, the movement of which causes considerable friction. Just as the steam had started the press, the cotton ignited where this collar works, and there is no doubt that the spark was produced by friction. The bale in the press caught like powder, and the fire was instantly communicated all over the two buildings.

The Present High Assessments and High Taxes.

Charlotte Democrat. We think our friend of the Raleigh Observer is mistaken in saying that "an effort is being made to make an issue out of the question of completing the Western North Carolina Railroad.' Democrats who oppose further appropriations of money from the State Treasury for that work do not was t to make any party issue about it. They only want it left out as a party issue, and leave every man free to take such position on the subject as he may think right and proper. The issue should be made with candidates for the legislature. If the candidate is in favor of continuing to tax the people for building railroads, vote for him if you are willing to be taxed in that way; if not, don't vote for him. If it is true that nearly all the public men of the State have, at some time, favored the completion of the Western North Carolina road, it is also true that many of that class now think that money enough has already been spent on the work-that the State has already done its duty in

As soon as Mull saw Fortune be drew his pistol, ran his team into the woods, cut a mule loose and left. Fortune staid with the wagon and sent to town for assistance. Messrs. Damrom and Hardin repaired to the scene of action and arrived just as Mull sent another man after his wagon. Fortune and his party followed and found their man at Jacob Costner's. As soon as Mull saw the party approaching he ran and they followed in hot pursuit when he turned and opened fire upon them. They returned the fire and a short but warm skirmish took place between Fortune and his party on Mull; but, so far as we can learn at this writing, no one was hurt and Mull made good his escape. From what we can learn Mull had been off with a load of blockade and was returning with an empty barrel in his wagon.

Washington Post. When it was urgently necessary for Mr. Sherman to make political capital for effect on the New York election, he found a way of showing a heavy pay-ment of the public debt in the statement for October. That energency having passed, we are told that there will be but a very slight reduction this menth. The reason is that October payments were crowded over into November. This could be readily done, as the Secretary is not compelled to settle claims as fast as they can be audited. It is not difficult to delay the formal process for a few days, and Mr. Sherman does it. THE MESSAGE.

HOW THE PRESIDENT WOULD RUN THE COUNTRY.

Resumption-Tax on Tea or Coffee Utah and Polygamy-Civil Service-Elections and Finance.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26 .- The contents of the forthcoming message of the President have been the subject of conversation in Washington to-day; and it is understood that the President makes it a matter of no especial importance to avoid reference to the subject treated

Among the more important features of the message are the following: The President first congratulates Congress upon the material accomplishment of resumption, but expresses the fear, it the coinage of the standard silver dollar is continued without limit, that the present stock of gold will begin to leave the country, and that silver will take its place. He recommends that no action be taken toward fixing the ratio between gold and silver until after a Monetary Congress shall arrive at some conclusion. The coinage of the dellar, however, might be suspended. Inasmuch as it has been the policy of the Government since the adoption of the Constitution to pay all debts as soon after they are incurred as possi-ble, the President recommends a sinkng fund for the payment of all obligations within a limited time; and if the revenues of Government are not sufficient for this, then that a tax on tea or coffee should be levied, as that will be the only means convenient for the pur-

The President calls the attention of Congress to the utter disregard of the Congress to the utter disregard of the statute concerning polygamy by the inhabitants of Utah. The President treats the subject of Civil Service reform at considerable length, taking the position generally held by the advanced friends of Civil Service reform. He recommends that Congress take measures to give perpetuity to the reform already initiated experimentally by the Administration. There is quite a long passage on the subject of Supervisors and United States Marshals, which is as stalwart as the most radical Republican could wish. The President recommends the passage of an appropriation sufficient to pay supervisors and marshals for their services during the portion of the fiscal year for which no appropriation was made. He also recommends similar appropriations for the future. He takes the ground that as it is only in time of war or other pressing emergency that the issue of notes (the government) is authorized, and that no such emergency now exists, the green manner wisely calculated to prevent any disturbance of the present finan-

Congress may enter upon leg. islation to facilitate the prosecution o the work. The Nicaraguan route is es pecially referred to, and with favor

The President also calls the attention of Congress to District of Columbia for an improvement of the streets, calls attention to the decaying wood pavement, and makes strong recommendations that immediate action be taken to improve the river front, both on account of the wants of commerce and as a sanitary measure. The President especially commends to the attention of Congress the condi-tion of the foreign commerce of the country, and asks that all possible legislation to extend our com nerce be enacted, especially with respect to the carrying trade. The great surplus of American agricultural and other productions and the large balance of trade in America's favor are cited as reasons why the American Congress should do what it can to extend the facilities of commerce. The President thinks by wise action now this country may regain a carrying trade of which it cannot again be deprived.

An Old-Fashiound Negro Row is which Blood Flowed Freely-

Charlotte Observer, 2th.

A bloody row occurred at the house of a colored individual on the premises of Mr. J. Harvey Henderson, in Mallard Creek township, Wednesday night, in which a dozen or more negro men participated to a more or less extent. It was the occasion of a frolic there at which were gather da large party from the surrounding contry. The hilarity of the entertainment was gradually increased by heavy aroughts of whisky, until it became beliefous. After the dancing had proceeded in the most vigorous style for several hours, the game of stealing partners was introduced. In the midst of the game Joe Dodd, a muscular fellow have for his fighting proclivities, announced that he was "the rogue." Another member of the party had the effrontery to dispute his claim to that position, and the two flew Charlotte Observer, 2th. claim to that position, and the two flew together in a minute. Others came in ostensibly to settle the racket, but finally nearly everybody got into it. Then the knives and razors began to gleam in the fitful firelight, the women shouted and raised a panic, and the floor actually grew slippery with

The fight lasted for nearly fifteen minutes, and finally seemed to close on account of the sheer exhaustion of the inebriated combatants. Joe Dodd, the bully, was wallowing in his own blood before the battle was over. He was fearfully cut with a razor. The keen blade of the weapon had pene-trated to his backbone and thence ran around his body, severing the muscles of his back and laying bare his entrails. The gash is eight inches long, and extended into the cavity at every point. Dr. Wilder sewed up the wound the next day, and reports it the worst of the kind he ever saw. There is a chance, he says, for Dood's recovery, but he is injured for life.

But this was not the only casualty. Another negro man had his lip cut, and the larger part of it taken off entirely, while still another got a severe cut in the back of the neck, to say nothing of many other bruises and smaller cuts. Scarcely an individual engaged in the row came out unscathed.

None of the men are able to tell who did any of the cutting, and up to last ccounts no arrests had been made.

Reign of Terror in Pitt County. Greenville Express. W. B Paramour, of Chicod township, was arrested and brought to this place on Saturday last, charged with burning the store-house of Miss Eveline Nelson. It is charged that this store occupied by Paramour, which was burned a day or two after Mr. Laugh-inghouse lost his property, was burned by Paramour to allay suspicion which ad been resting on him for some time. He was also charged with trying to poison the well of Mr. J. J. Laugh-inghouse. One witness-Mr. John Campbell-swore that W. B. Paramour, the accused, hired him to put strych-nine in Mr. L.'s well. He was taken before J. B. Worsley, a magistrate, and on account of the absence of important witnesses was bound over in a verified bond of $2,500, to make his appearance on next Saturday. He failed to give the bond required, but gave a mortgage on about $6,000 worth of property, and was released until Saturday. The work of incendiarism seems to have reached a high pitch in Chicod township. Last year an attempt was made to burn the gin-house of Mr. J. J. Laughinghouse, but the fire was discovered and checked before much damage was done. The supposed in-cendiary, Romeo Satterthwaite (col'd), was sent to jail, and escaped through outside assistance. He was thought to be only the tool of other parties. Last spring the water-mill of General Bryant Grimes was fired and burned to the ground, resulting in a loss of $8,000. About a year ago Mr. Campbell lost a barn, and recently another attempt was made on Mr. J. J. Laughin house, which resulted in the loss of a gin nouse, barn, stables and buggy house. All of the above was the work of in-cendiarism. We think it high time that this matter was looked into and, if possible, catch the guilty ones and make them suffer to the fullest extent

After ascertaining these facts, the party then proceeded to a house on Chestnut be-tween Tenth and Eleventh streets, where the girl was known to be residing. Upon arriving at the house the party surrounded it, when officer Carr knocked at the door, which was soon opened to admit him by some one inside, when the girl in question leaped from a back window into the yard, but unfortunately for her, lighted right into Officer Strode's arms. After diligent search of the premises many of the missing articles were found, which were identified, and also the shoes of Jane Williams, which, upon measurement by Officer Carr, corresponded ex actly with the size of the track made in Mrs. Fore's yard. Charlotte Observer. Sunday night "A. B. Jones and Mrs. Jones," registered at the Charlotte Hotel from Raleigh. They came on the 12:30 train and remained all night and all day Monday, leaving on the 12:45 train on the Charlotte, Columbia & Augusta railroad. Jones was well-dressed and and rather a prepossessing man. Mrs. Jones did not come down, but took her meals in her room. The servants who waited on her reported that on Monday she had in the room with her a baby. When the couple left the house they did not have the child with them, but the circumstance was not noticed at the time. Day before yesterday, the police received information to the effect that a colored woman living not far from the hotel had in her possession a white child. She said, or ing asked an explanation of the fact, that a man who had been stopping at the Charlotte Hotel, left the child with her and paid her to keep it ten days. On applying at the hotel, the police gathered the facts recorded above. child is about three weeks old. It was turned over to the Home and Hospital, where it is receiving every attention from the hands of the matron of that institution. The police came into the possession of the facts in the case too late to take any action, and nothing whatever has been heard of the couple since they left the hotel.

A Shameful Omission

Philadelphia Times. It is a subject of general comment in the Western papers that not a single volunteer military organization from any point north of Mason and Dixon's line participated in the unveiling of the statue of General George H. The mas. The shameful omission was the more marked because several Southern companies, composed largely of ex-Con-federates, went to Washington at their own expense and took part in the parade. Of course the absence of companies hailing from this side of the line was not owing to any lack of respect for the memory of the gallant The but it was unfortunate, nevertheless, Philadelphia and New York at least should have been represented by some of the crack corps, and Cincinnati is not so far from Washington that the distance can be accepted as an excuse for her neglect. What Assurances Have We?

Charlotte Observer. In the face of all this Southern men are asked to support General Grant for the Presidency in 1880, upon the cry that the country demands peace. For eight years under his administration the country cried "Peace, peace, when there was no peace." What assurances have we that a "third term, will be different from the first or second? Who has been authorized to make any pledges for this modern Caesar?

THE MEST CHAPTER OF A RO-MANCE.

Burried Treasure in a West Virginia Cave Pound by Countile

New York World.

Big Spring, W. Va., November 24.— On the 5th of this month two men called at the residence of Mr. William G. Sharp. After dinner they engaged lodging for a few days. Mr. W. Ray Hatton, the elder, said they wished to find a blue-grass farm which suited them. J. Q. Davis, the other, said that city life and sedentery habits had weakened his constitution, and that his cousin, Mr. Davis, had persuaded him to try country life.

Two days were spent by the gentlemen in rambling over the section known as the Tallow Knob. They departed about daybreak on the morning of the 3d, as they had on the two previous days. About 2 o'clock Mr. Hatton came in very muddy, with his clothes torn and out of order, saying he had been explor-ing a cave, and his cousin was tired and awaiting the horse and buggy to take him over to Mr. Landin's. He collected his baggage while the vehicle was arranged. After dressing and washing himself he paid his bill and departed Nothing more was thought of parted. Nothing more was thought of the matter until some men who had been engaged at a threshing, passing near the mouth of the cave smelled a terrible stench. Mr. Sharp and a son of Mr. Landin were in the crowd, and Mr. Sharp jestingly "wondered if that could be Mr. Davis." Some of them called for an explanation and Mr. Sharp said to John Landin, "Why, he was one of the gentlemen who called at your houselast Saturday." Mr. Lan-din said that no one was there at ail, Then they talked of the curious acting of Hatton and concluded to explore the cave. Lights were procured, and after a search a body was found which Mr. Sharp identified as Mr. Davis. This was about 5 o'clock on the 13th. Coroner Ludbetter soon had a jury impaneled, which decided that the deceased came to his death from a blud-geon in the hands of an unknown party. Near the corpse was a broken lantern. In the pocket were found some letters addressed to Jno. L. Stone, Pittsburg, Pa., a fine pocket compass, a clasped book containing a full and complete map of the State, with the water courses from the Greenbrier to the mouth of the Mononganela marked, also a red line was traced through Up-shur county, by the head of the Valley snur county, by the head of the Valley River, to a point marked "Cave" near Big Spring. Notes on the fly-leaf spoke of gold being buried a certain distance from an X on a limestone. While part of the jury went outside to prepare a bier others took the lights and proceeded to follow the discations. in a note-book: "Cross the pond of water from the west to a water-worn shelf; thence north 53 west 8 feet to a limestone marked X; thence south 37 west 20 feet to the crevice.' After crossing the pond fresh tracks on the floor led the way. At the crevice was found an old, battered, four-gallon kettle, which examination showed had held coin. The kettle had been about half full of coin about the size of fifty cent pieces.

The letters proved that Mr. Stone (or Davis) must have been a bachelor in easy circumstances. One of the memoranda speaks of about two thousand lollars deposited in a Pittsburg bank. Mr. Stone was buried near the mouth of the cave. How the "Tribune" Pays Gould.

New York Sun. By this operation alone, to which the Tribune lent all the aid in its powerby this concerted and cleverly-engi neered bear movement, which proved so disastrous to hundreds of specula-tors—Mr. Gould must easily have made what his paper cost him, and can there-fore well afford now to let it run on its ordinary course of sentimentality and urgid politics, callow reasoning and cheap piety, until he wants it again for real and serious work—for the practical uses for which he bought it. GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1879. CONGRESSMAN ELLIS, of Louisiana, is confident that any good Democrat, with the exception of Mr. Tilden, can carry that State.

THE Kellogg investigating committee have taken a vast amount of evidence, and everything goes to show that Senator Kellogg had to pay roundly for his seat.

THE Washington correspondent of the Philadelphia Record says that the Southern Grant boom is likely to receive a serious set-back now that the Southern Congressmen are beginning

Tobacco and cigar manufacturers in all parts of the United States have overwhelmed the Commissioner of Patents of late with complaints that the Supreme Court trade-mark decision was ruining their business, and requests that he advise them as to the best course to pursue. In every case he has replied that he and they are powerless, and that there is no remedy for owners of valuable trade-marks when infringed on except at common law. It is expected that Congress will take action in the matter soon after assembling.

THE Philadelphia Record, in reviewing the Presidential field, says: "The attempt of the Washington Post to get up a Seymour boom has not been very successful. All the Democrats entertain the highest possible regard for Mr Seymour, and would be exceedingly glad to support him. If he was ten years younger than he is, and was willing to be a candidate, there would be little doubt of his nomination; but, inasmuch as he absolutely declines to be a candidate, and inasmuch as it is well known that his health is so feeble that he has been absolutely ordered by his physician to avoid excitement, and inasmuch as the attempt to force him to run without his consent would most probably result in ending his life, sensible Democrats look upon the attempt to nominate him as merely a piece of campaign talk, and hardly worth serious consideration,'

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE. To-morrow is the first Monday in December, the day provided by law for the assembling of Congress, and the first thing to be considered is the President's message. Of late years it has been customary to withhold the message from the press until the day of delivery, although correspondents have been furnished it in a synopsized form. For a paper the size of the NEWS these documents are generally too long for publication entire, and we believe that the synopsis would suit the greater majority of our readers far better than if the full text of the message was given. The leading points the President makes are these:

He congratulates Congress and the country on the accomplishment of resumption of specie payments, and then stabs the silver coinage, forgetful of the fact that it was the remonetization of silver that made resumption a fixed fact, and also hints that the coipage of the silver dollar might be suspended. This is in accord with the private views of Secretary Sherman.

Then he recommends a sinking fund for the payment of all obligations within a limited period-a plan well calculated to weigh heavily on the poorer classes, and which he well understands cannot be carried in the ordinary way, as he states that if the Government revenues are not sufficient a tax on tea and coffee should be levied; as that will be the only means convenient for the purpose. It seems strange that the widespread boast that they, the Republicans, have brought prosperity to the country; that it is owing to their supremacy in the land that business industries have revived and the burdens of the workingman have been made lighter, that following closely after the fall elections a tax of this nature should be recommended.

With a non-committal glance at Utah, the possibility of its emerging from the territorial chrysalis into a State, Mormonism, polygamy, etc., he dives into that wonderfully elastic feature of his original programme, to wit, Civil Service Reform. He has played fast and loose so long on this subject that it would be impossible to fasten him; but just now, right on the heels of his Ohio electioneering trip and his indorsement of Mr. Cornell, the man nominated for collector of the port of New York and whom he rejected as being unfit for the position and afterward indorsed as the nominee for Governor of New York, when the appointment was made in spite of the earnest protestations of George William Curtis, the most zealous and able advocate of civil service reform in the country, the banner of this great moral agent (used only when a point is to be gained) is flung to the breeze and the President is the standard-bearer. He recommends that Congress take measures to give perpetuity to the reform already initiated experimentally by him; but when and where, or in what instance such an experiment was initiated, he fails to show. There is a great deal of tinkling brass about this portion of the message.

He informs us that we are on friendly terms with the world, but forgets to condemn the herculear efforts made by the stalwart wing of his party to create sectional discord.

He thinks that the present Indian policy is good enough, or at least he deprecates the agitation of the question of the transfer of the Indian Bureau to the War Department, and, of course, says nothing about the harried Popcas, thereby indorsing the system of Indian agencies and thieving agents.

Of course the Republican election machinery of partisan supervisors and marshals comes in for commendation, and the stalwarts will rejoice over his words although their comfort will turn outco.d in view of the probability that appropriations for this particular branch of the service will be refused. Still, if these patriots wish to serve their coun-

ment, but the gist has already been published in Secretary Sherman's report; consequently they are not independent personal expressions. He advocates the retirement of the green backs as soon as it can be done without disturbing the financial equilibrium-a phrase suggestive of infinity. That they should be removed from all danger of reissue at the whim of a single man is demanded by the interests of the country, especially as the steady increase of coin is sufficient for all Lusiness purposes. The inter-oceanic canal scheme meets with favor, especially as Secretary Sherman nudges his elbow in this direction in order to get rid of a formidable competitor for the Presidency in the person of General Grant. Congress is advised to enter upon legislation to facilitate the prosecution of the work. If we had the large number of American bottoms that stood on the register in 1855 this scheme might not meet with much fa-

He finally commends to the attention of Congress the foreign commerce of the country, and asks that all possible legislation to extend our commerce be enacted, especially with regard to the carrying trade. Now, the true state of the case is this: we have had too many Congressional tinkers, in both parties, already. Let Congress sweep away all legislation that has been consummated for the past twenty-five years, take a new start and advance sensible instead of demagogical views, and a new era will be at once instituted that will prove beneficial to the country at large.

Altogether the document is a sort of store-ground coffee concern-thick, turgid and rank.

THE COLORED FAIR.

If the holding of the Industrial Fair by the colored people of the State had demonstrated nothing but their capability for improvement in the trades and agricultural pursuits, it would have been a grand success; but it has done more than that: it has shown that the whites and the blacks can live in this State on the most amicable terms-that in fact instead of the colored people being classed as a mere servile race by the whites they are looked upon while making an earnest endeavor to lift themselves from the ignorance and idleness of the five years succeeding the war as friends and neighbors, and a helping hand is extended to the former slave by his old master. This is a matter with which political greed has nothing to do: it is purely a matter of social and political economy. For if the colored people are ground down; if there is no encouragement offered them to labor and gain homesteads for themselves, they will become discouraged and dissolute and idle, to the serious detriment of the tax-paying portion of the inhabitants of the State. But a friendly hand, them. They are gaining in industry;

a kindly word, goes a long way with they are preparing homes for themselves and bringing up their children to understand that by hard work alone can they attain to the high positions they desire-and when we say hard work we mean mental as well as manual. These children must be educated; else they will be hewers of wood and drawers of water all the days of their lives. And they must understand that all have to work, white as well as black, in order to gain a living, and if one source of their labor fails they must be ready to seek another, for work, except in extraordinary times or cases, seldom runs around the streets chasing up an indolent man. Therefore we say that the Fair has been productive of great good, not only demonstrating the fact that the colored man is a capable being, but also showing that the white people are both willing and anxious to assist him in his praiseworthy endeavor. For the sake of information for those Northern journals whose columns are filled in campaign times with stories of bull-dozed negroes and a general display of white inhumanity we take the following from the Raleigh Republican, a paper owned and edited by by colored men, the final clause applying with full force to those ranters that work for political ends to their own advancement:

The deep interest taken by the white people of North Carolina in the success of the late Industrial Fair is such as should challenge the highest admiration of all. They have demonstrated to the world that there is no natural antagonism existing between the two races in this State, and that the colored people have no better friends than are to be found among the better class of the white people. We were never so proud as when we saw the white people of North Carolina, regardless of party, coming forward with warm heart and generous hand to the assistance of their colored fellow citizens in their struggle for a higher and nobler manhood. It furnished an additional confirmation of what we have always said of them both in our private and public utterances, and through the pubhe prints, to-wit: that no better people dwell on the face of the globe than the people of North Carolina. What an argument for peace, for unity, for friendly co-operation between the races was shown on our Fair grounds last week! We would have had the whole country witness the spectacle. Now what we want in North Carolina is to be let alone. We can live together and live on the best of terms if the politicians will only keep off hands and let us work the thing in our own way.

Much in Such a Name.

Cincinnati Commercial. The name of Seymour is still a spell of nchantment in New York. The son of the ex-Governor is the only Demo-crat elected on the State ticket. It is possible the politicians may find in his majority of fourteen thousand over Soule for State engineer the elements of a Presidential boom for his uncle, to whose popularity undoubtedly it may be attributed.

A Serious Difficulty.

Springfield Republican. The most serious difficulty with rerespect to the Grant movement in the South has been to find somebody responsible for it .- New York Tribine. That is a serious difficulty with the Grant movement everywhere. Lots of people are saying, "Oh, it will be Grant," but very few people say, "We want it to be Grant.

The Party Will Divide on Grant.

A Good Shot.

Louisburg Times. Mr. E. C. Jones, our excellent Register of Deeds, while on the way to his fathers, last Saturday evening, made a very good and successful shot at a wild turkey. He was riding along in his buggy, when he saw several turkeys pass across the road. I was presented by a kind friend in Cincinnati with halfa dozen bottles of Vegetine, and although one bottle is still untouched, behold me a well woman, completely restored in body and mind, and able to perform my accustomed duties. Long may you live! and may the history of my wonderful cure lead other like sufferers to purchase your valuable medicine, if it is with the last cent they possess. H. R. STEVENS, BOSTON.

Our Objection. Charlotte Observer.

Our objection to Grant is not that he is a successful soldier of the Union armies, but that as a civilian and statesman, occupying the highest position in the gift of the Nation—with a big N if desired—he willfully, deliberately and systematically trampled upon the most sacred muniments of the people's rights, defied the law, and disregarded the most valued traditions of the land, put his foot on the decisions of the Supreme Court, encouraged dishonesty in the administration of the government, practiced nepotism to an unprecedented extent, and finally surrendered his authority amid a perfect glare of fraud? Are our reasons good ones?

Another Grant Boom. They had a Grant boom in Japan, and this is the way the native reporter wrote up "Gorantu:" "There is a man who has cultivated his great natural abilities, is rich in thought, is admirable in his movements, is as unfathomable as heaven and earth, and with whom neither the fox nor the phoenix is for a moment to be compared. Such an one is General Grant, whose intelligence is commanding to a degree, and whose business capacities are truly grand.'

No Such Thing.

Savannah News. We can't deny that there is such a thing as a Grant boom in Atlanta With shame and mortification we confess the humiliating fact. But we beg our northern Democratic friends to bear in mind that although Atlanta is the greatest, the fastest and the loudest town in Georgia, it is not Georgia. There is no such thing as a Georgia boom for Grant.

Burned to Death.

Roanoke News One day last week an old negro named Ned Jones, who lived on the land of Mr. H. J. Pope, a few miles from here, was burned to death. He was very old, being over one hundred years of age, and slept in a house by himself some distance from any other house. He had a quantity of hay in his cabin on which he usually slept. During the night it is supposed this hay caught fire and burned the cabin and the old man to ashes. Next morning only a heap of ashes and einders were found where the house stood the evening before.

FROM THE HON. WM. TAYLOR, STATE SENATOR OF MASSACHUSETTS. Messrs, Weeks & Potter: Gentlemen,— To say that I am grateful, is only a poor expression of my feelings, but it is the best word I can use, for I feel it in every sense of the word. I have been a great sufferer with skin diseases for the last twelve (12) years. My head and face being covered with sores, I could not rest with the burning heat and itenling of the parts affected, and was confined to my house for weeks at a time. My fined to my house for weeks at a time. My disease has been called Eczema, of a most disease has been called bezena, of a most aggravated type, by many physicians, but I doubt if ever fully understood by any of them. It was more like a combination of several skin humors. I have spent much money seeking a cure, and in 1807 I went to Europe, and consulted some of the best physicians in London. I received temporary relief only, for in the spring it would break out again as bad as ever. When I came back to boston, I was told by many friends that Dr. — (whose reputation for the cure of those diseases was of the nighest order) could cure me. I waited on the doctor; he prescribed for me. I followed his advice for six months, and I can safely say, without any improvement. I tried other physicians and among them Dr. ——, of east Boston, and Dr. ——, of city proper, but all to no purpose. They did me no good; their remedies were so ineffectual that at no timedid I feel that a cure would result from them.

I have swallowed five hundred arsenic pills, 5.20grain, and taken bottle after bottle of internal remedies, besides all the external applications I have used, but the efections in the content of the proper in the

Now, about three months ago, Mr: Mee-han, a gentleman well known to Boston people, called my attention to your CUTI-CURA, and promised wonderful results if I would only make a trial. He told me of his own experience with it, and so persevered on me that I went with him to a drug store and bought two large boxes of CUTICURA, and some CUTICURA SOAP, and commenced to use it according to the directions. There was so much humorlodged within the sain. was so much humor lodged within the skin, that as soon as I commenced the use of CUthat as soon as I commenced the use of CU-TICURA It came to the surface and festered, until vast quantities had come out and greatly intensified my sufferings for about two weeks. But I did not mind this, as I felt that I was going to get rid of the humor when I saw it coming to the surface in such large quantities. After the first two or three weeks' use of this remedy, I was great-ly encouraged by a gradual lessening of the inflammation of a number of painful sores, I carefully, faithfully, and cheerfully fol-lowed the directions to the letter, feeling each week nearer a cure, until at the pres-

lowed the directions to the letter, feeling each week nearer a cure, until at the present moment, after three months use of CuticuRa, and twelve years of as constant suffering as was ever endured, I can say that I am cured, and pronounce my case the most remarkable on record. I have been so elated with my success that I have stopped men on the street who were afflicted, and told them to get the CuticuRa and it would cure them. This is why I am so grateful to you, for I believe it to be the best and greatest discovery of the age, and that it will cure all who are suffering with these diseases. I may add that I took no internal medicine but the CuticuRa Resolvent.

-A comfortable saloon where ladies and gentlemen can obtain seasonable dishes and delicacies, is a very handy establishment in any place. N. S. His saloon is neatly and comfortably furnished, and now that ovsters are in season persons and parties will be readily supplied. Confectionery and fruits also enter his line of business, and for a neat, quiet lunch, this is the place to stop at. More might be said, but it is unnecessary.

A Correction-Telephonic.

Through mistake it was stated on yesterday morning that the matter be-tween the Edison and Bell Telephone Companies being settled, Mr. Starke, the manager, would receive subscriptions and exchange the Edison for the Bell. He does not propose to take out the tel-ephones (Edison's) now in use, but desires all parties wishing to subscribe tor instruments to supply them with the Bell hereafter instead of the Edison. Those now using the Edison will still use them, no change being made, Books of subscription are now open at his office. Call on him early and se cure your choice.

A Native Product.

The following letter addressed to the editor of the NEWS explains itself: Before leaving your beautiful city for my home. I have thought it well to to you for inspection this large silk shawl, and so say to you that it is the work entire, from the rearing of cocoon to the present form, of a highly respected lady of Guilford county, Miss Cynthia Mendenhall. I had properly entered at the late State Fair in the hope that it would secure a premium, and thereby encourage an important industry in our State. It is bnt just for me to say that the great modesty of Miss Mendenhall would not allow her to encourage me in the least in giving it an exhibition by the side of the other articles, which the highly competent judges of that department decided to be its superior. MRS. C. K. WRIGHT.

The shawl is indeed worthy of the commendation given by Mrs. Wright. It is of fine texture, heavy for the material and heavily fringed, and shows what a woman's patience is capable of accomplishing. Whether or no silk from the web to the woof can be successfully raised and manufactured as to make it a paying investment is another question; but Miss Mendenhall certainly deserves much praise for her suc-cessful effort in this direction.

The Catholic Fair.

The fair and festival held by the con gregation presided over by the Rev. gregation presided over by the Rev. Father White, was brought to an end last evening. From present appearances the effort was moderately successful, the principal portion of the receipts arising from the raffles and the voting for the cane and the standish and pen. There was a good attendance, and while the ballots were being count-ed the lads and lasses were enjoying themselves dancing. The lateness of the hour precludes giving anything beyond the number of ballots cast for each candidate, as follows: For the Cane: Dr. Eugene Grissom 718; Major B. C. Manly 706; General Mite 76; F. H. Heartt 53; M. J. Gorman 5; George H. Snow 4; Luther

For the Standish and Pen: John C. Blake 103; P. A. Wiley 14; S. C. On the result being made known, the cane was formally presented to Dr. Grissom, who made a neat little speech in reply. Farewell Sermon.

At 7:30 o'clock this evening Rev. W C. Norman will preach his farewell sermon as pastor of Person Street M. E. Church. Mr. Norman while stationed at Person Street Church has labored unceasingly for the good of his charge, and while he has succeeded in building up a most interesting Sabbath school and a flourishing congregation he has, unknowingly, developed a character which, magnetic like, has drawn around him a host of friends to be remembered from among the communicants of every denomination in the city. No pastor ever enjoyed greater love and esteem from his charge than does Mr. Norman, and in leaving our community (for the gov-ernment of the M. E. Church compels him to retire from this church having him to retire from this church, having been stationed here the full four years of the itinerancy system) Mr. Norman will carry the love, respect and best wishes of all who knew him, having proved himself a faithful pastor, a pleasing, kind and courteous gentle-man and a good citizen. Well may the charge who receives Mr. Norman as their pastor rejoice, for with him will come a general good feeling and re-viving of Christian fellowship which naturally follows such a good man. We regret to see him go. Let there be a general farewell meeting to-night.
